Project Overview

The Adams Street project consists of the reconstruction of the existing viaduct structure over the Union Station tracks, improvements to the Adams Street and Canal Street intersection, new street lighting and traffic signals, improved roadway drainage, and structural and electrical improvements to the Adams Street Bascule Bridge over the South Branch of the Chicago River.

Related Street Impacts

- The Adams Street Bridge over the Chicago River will be temporarily closed.
- Adams will be closed from west of Wacker to Canal and slightly into the intersection at Adams/Canal.
- Canal will be partially obstructed at Adams for the initial phases of the project, but will remain open to traffic.

Note: Pedestrian access across the Adams Street Bridge to Union Station will be maintained except for two 30-day periods during the life of the project.
